Data from Breaking Through

Charts and tables from our 2016 Breaking Through study. The report found that though women entrepreneurs of all ages, races and ethnicities are having an increasingly large impact on New York City’s economy, the city has only begun to harness the full potential of women entrepreneurs.
Research by Judy Messina with Audrey Gray, Phil Lentz and Jonathan Bowles. Additional research support from Jonah Bleckner, Melanie Breault, Matt Falber, Natalia Khosla and Saigeetha Narasimhan. Design by Amy Parker and Ahmad Dowla.

This research was made possible through Capital One’s Future Edge initiative.

General operating support for the Center for an Urban Future has been provided by the Bernard F. and Alva B. Gimbel Foundation, the Lucius N. Littauer Foundation and the M&T Charitable Foundation.

CAPITAL ONE’S FUTURE EDGE initiative is a $150 million, five-year effort to help more American workers and entrepreneurs succeed in the 21st century economy. Through Future Edge, Capital One works with hundreds of leading community and nonprofit organizations in NYC and beyond, including microfinance and micro-lending organizations empowering women entrepreneurs such as Grameen America, Accion, and the Business Outreach Center Network. Learn more at www.capitalone.com/investingforgood or join the conversation on Twitter at @YourFutureEdge.

CENTER FOR AN URBAN FUTURE (CUF) is an independent, nonprofit think tank that generates innovative policies to create jobs, reduce inequality and help lower income New Yorkers climb into the middle class. For 20 years, CUF has published accessible, data-driven reports on ways to grow and diversify the economy and expand opportunity that are anchored in rigorous research, not preconceived notions about outcome. Our work has been a powerful catalyst for policy change in New York City and serves as an invaluable resource for government officials, community groups, nonprofit practitioners and business leaders as they advocate for and implement policies to address some of New York’s biggest challenges and opportunities.

RELATED PRESS

Atlanta No. 3 U.S. city for growth of women-owned businesses
Study: 40% of NYC businesses owned by women

Women Entrepreneurs Drive Economic Growth in the Bronx

My thoughts: Overcoming challenges and finding success as a female small business owner

Women entrepreneurs on a dramatic rise in NYC over past 5 years: Study

Study: Women-owned business on the rise in BX

Women’s History Month: Interview With Construction Industry Maverick Barbara Armand

How Dallas Is Fueling Success For Women Entrepreneurs

Report: Female-founded start-ups get less funding

Memphis leads nation’s largest cities in women-owned business growth

Editorial: Thriving small businesses are essential to local growth

Women-Owned Businesses: How CEO Nellie Torres Built a Construction Company

Encouraging entrepreneurs: Capital One event promotes female business owners

Women-Owned Businesses in Brooklyn Soar 39 Percent in 5 Years, Study Shows

Fort Worth is crushing it when it comes to women-owned businesses
Best Cities For Black Women To Launch and Operate a Thriving Business

Top Cities Where Women Entrepreneurs Make the Most Money

New York Women In Tech Boost The City’s Economy

21 Ideas To Support And Scale-Up Women-Owned Businesses In New York City

For women entrepreneurs, business is booming but capital isn’t keeping up

What the Boom in Women-Owned Businesses Means for Cities

Women entrepreneurs outnumber men in New York City, says new survey

Ladies: Read This if You’re Thinking of Starting Your Own Business

More Women Are Opening Food Businesses Than Ever in New York, Study Says

The Rise Of Women Entrepreneurs Is Good Economic News For New York

Study: Women-owned businesses growing at 62% in Houston

Women-Owned Businesses Are Growing—but Not Enough

Female-owned businesses on the rise on Staten Island

Growth Of Women-Owned Businesses In Dallas Outpacing Nation

Study: New York’s a Good Town for Female Entrepreneurs
N.Y.C.’s female-founded start-ups receive a small fraction of VC funding

Breaking Through: The Economic Impact Of Women Entrepreneurs

NYC’s Rising Tide of Women Entrepreneurs

Bronx Women-Owned Businesses Skyrocket by More Than 50 Percent, Report Says

Cities Tap Women Entrepreneurs To Thrive

Builder, March 28, 2016