Data from Mobility Makers

Selected charts and graphs from the Center for an Urban Future’s November 2011 report on NYC’s community colleges. The report found that community colleges are crucial platforms for economic mobility in today’s knowledge economy, but showed that too few of those enrolled in these institutions actually graduate.