

Report - May 2008

Getting in the Game

This report finds that the fast-growing video game industry represents a promising opportunity for New York City's economy, but the sector faces significant challenges and still lags well behind established gaming hubs like Seattle, Los Angeles and Montreal.

by Tara Colton

Click here to read the full report \(PDF\).

December 2008 Update:

In May, the Center released a study which found that New York City is one of just a handful of cities nationwide to develop a significant cluster of video game firms and argued that, with the right support, this sector could grow further and help the city diversify its economy. One of our recommendations was to create a centralized, online recruiting vehicle for New York's game industry, and the local game community has done just that. In late November, several New York-based game developers launched www.nycgameindustry.com, a website which aims to "properly serve the growing NYC game development community's online needs." The site includes an event calendar, a company and school directory, job listings, discussion forums and more.

RELATED PRESS

Study: NYC could get jobs boost from video games

amNewYork, by David Freedlander, May 12, 2008

NYC Eyeballs Growing Game Industry

Kotaku, by Leigh Alexander, May 16, 2008

Study: Video Game Industry Promising for NYC Economy

The Associated Press, May 12, 2008

NYU launches video gaming degree

Crain's New York Business, by Amanda Fung, December 09, 2008

Can New York Close the Video-Game Gap?

New York Times City Room blog, by Sewell Chan, May 12, 2008

And Survey Says... New Yorkers Don't Got Game

The Real Estate Blog/New York Observer, by Dana Rubinstein, May 12, 2008

Emerging Industries: Stimulus 2.0

Crain's New York Business, by Clark Merrefield, January 13, 2009

Report: New York City not welcoming to game developers

Ars Technica, by Michael Thompson, May 12, 2008

NYC scores low in video games

Crain's New York Business, by Amanda Fung, May 12, 2008

Leveling Up New York City's Video Game Industry

MetroFocus | THIRTEEN, by Doris Martinez, April 06, 2012

Game City

Gotham Gazette, by Gail Robinson, May 12, 2008

New York City's Game Industry Blossoming Yet Choked By Weeds

GameCyte, by Sean Hollister, May 12, 2008

Color Zen throws spotlight on city's games scene

Crain's New York Business, by Judith Messina, July 31, 2013

Study: New York City's Game Industry Shows Potential

GameDaily, by James Brightman, May 12, 2008

New York Needs to Get Some Game

The Brian Lehrer Show, WNYC (interview with CUF deputy director Tara Colton), May 13, 2008

Game Co.'s Playing to Win but City's a Tough Matc

City Limits, by Tara Colton, May 12, 2008

Report: Gaming Industry Could Help City Economy

The New York Sun, by Benjamin Sarlin, May 13, 2008

NYC game development community slowly growing

Joystiq, by Alexander Sliwinski, May 12, 2008

Casual developers rule New York

CasualGaming, by Michael French, May 13, 2008

CENTER FOR AN URBAN FUTURE
120 Wall Street, 20th Floor, New York, NY 10005

cuf@nycfuture.org © All Rights Reserved.