

closed all of their New York City locations since last year: Baja Fresh, Ecko Unltd., Frederick's of Hollywood, Montblanc, and Underground by Journeys. The remaining 37 percent of retailers did not have a net change in the number of locations in the city.

Brooklyn, the Bronx and Queens were the only boroughs to experience net increases in the number of national retailers, while the net number of locations declined in Manhattan and on Staten Island. Between 2014 and 2015 the number of chain store outlets in Brooklyn increased by 2.6 percent, going from 1,592 stores last year to 1,633 stores this year, the number in the Bronx increased 3.3 percent—from 914 stores in 2014 to 944 stores in 2015 and in Queens the number of locations increased 0.8 percent—from 1,735 stores in 2014 to 1,749 stores in 2015. The largest percentage decrease was on Staten Island, which went from 425 stores to 420, a decrease of 1.2 percent, followed by Manhattan (-0.1 percent—from 2,807 stores to 2,804).

Starbucks has more stores in Manhattan than any other national retailer, with 220 locations. In each of the other boroughs, Dunkin Donuts tops the list—it has 171 stores in Queens, 149 in Manhattan, 135 in Brooklyn, 80 in the Bronx and 33 on Staten Island.

Among the retailers with significant store growth over the past year:

- Sprint: 70 locations, up from 28 in 2014 and 24 in 2008
- Fossil: 11 locations, up from 4 in 2014 and also in 2009
- Sketchers: 11 locations, up from 7 in 2014 and 6 in 2009
- Nathan's: 25 locations, up from 17 in 2014 and 19 in 2009
- Coach: 18 locations, up from 13 in 2014 and 12 in 2009
- Just Salad: 19 locations, up from 14 in 2014 and 6 in 2009
- Crunch: 16 locations, up from 12 in 2014 and 10 in 2009
- T-Mobile: 217 locations, up from 181 in 2014 and 96 in 2009
- MetroPCS: 323 locations, up from 290 in 2014 and 7 in 2009
- GNC: 175 locations, up from 156 in 2014 and 110 in 2009
- Chipotle: 58 locations, up from 50 in 2014 and 25 in 2009
- Sunglass Hut: 30 locations, up from 23 in 2014 and 20 in 2009
- Checkers: 35 locations, up from 28 in 2014 and 17 in 2012
- Le Pain Quotidien: 36 locations, up from 30 in 2014 and 17 in 2008
- Michael's Stores: 9 locations, up from 4 in 2014 and 5 in 2008
- Equinox: 25 locations, up from 20 in 2014 and 2008
- Auntie Anne's: 25 locations, up from 20 in 2014 and 10 in 2008
- Taco Bell: 29 locations, up from 24 in 2014 and 19 in 2008

Among the retailers that closed a number of stores over the past year:

- Radio Shack: 37 locations, down from 113 in 2014

- Jackson Hewitt Tax Service: 66 locations, down from 76 in 2014
- Bally Total Fitness: 3 locations, down from 15 in 2014
- Strawberry: 7 locations, down from 18 in 2014
- McDonald's: 232 locations, down from 243 in 2014
- Duane Reade/Walgreens: 307 locations, down from 318 in 2014
- Golden Krust: 59 locations, down from 69 in 2014
- Motherhood Maternity: 6 locations, down from 14 in 2014
- Carvel: 50 locations, down from 58 in 2014

Our report also charts retailer trends within the boroughs. Among the interesting trends we discovered this year:

- Most of Dunkin Donuts' expansion was in Brooklyn and Queens, where the chain added a net of 10 stores in each of the two boroughs.
- Manhattan lost 17 Subway locations. The retailer had a net loss of three locations in Brooklyn, two locations in the Bronx, and a net gain of four locations in Queens.
- 52 of the chains we include in this report have no locations outside of Manhattan, including Pret a Manger, Papyrus, Chop't, Tasti D-Lite, and Second Time Around.
- Five retailers have their only locations in Queens: Arby's, Panda Express, Gold's Gym, and Gordon's Jewels.
- Two retailers have their only locations on Staten Island: Arthur Treacher's and Bakers Shoes.
- Overall, 166 retailers have more of their stores in Manhattan than any other borough, 63 retailers have more of their stores in Queens than any other borough, 48 have the most stores in Brooklyn, 14 have the most in the Bronx and four have the most on Staten Island.

Every year, we add new national retailers to our ranking. This year, we added five new retailers: Joe Coffee, Soul Cycle, Blue Mercury, Maoz Vegetarian, and Dollar Tree. Including these new retailers, our complete list of 300 retailers has 7,626 store locations across the five boroughs.

This year the 10001 zip code in Midtown/Koreatown that is home to the Manhattan Mall and the Herald Square shopping areas has the highest number of national retailer locations at 178. Zip code 10314, home of the Staten Island Mall, is a close second at 175 locations. Other zip codes with large numbers of retailers include 10003 in Manhattan's East Village (163 locations) and 10036 in Midtown West (153 locations). Brooklyn Heights 11201 has the largest number of national retailer locations in that borough at 146, with zip code 11234, home to Kings Plaza Shopping Center in Flatlands being a close second at 142 locations. In Queens, the Corona/Elmhurst zip code that is home to the Queens Center Mall, 11373 has the highest number of chain stores in that borough (137), and in the Bronx, Parkchester (10462) has the highest number of chain stores of any zip code in that borough (89).

Many zip codes also saw significant increases in the number of locations over the past year. The zip codes with the largest year-over-year net increases were the Baychester/Co-op City zip code 10475, which gained 20 retailer locations, closely followed by the Brooklyn zip code covering Canarsie, 11239, which gained 18 locations. In Queens, Woodside 11377 and East Harlem 10029 in Manhattan each gained 8 locations, and Staten Island's Tottenville 10307 zip code gained two stores, the most of any zip code in their respective boroughs.

Manhattan still has the largest number share of national retailer locations in the city at 37 percent of all locations (a drop of 1 percent compared to last year), followed by Queens at 23 percent, Brooklyn at 22 percent (a gain of 1 percent), the Bronx at 13 percent and Staten Island at 6 percent. Manhattan also has the highest concentration of chain stores at 118 locations per square mile. The remaining boroughs have significantly fewer chain stores per square mile: Brooklyn (37), Queens (16), the Bronx (12), and Staten Island (7). Overall there are 25 chain stores per square mile and 1,077 New York City residents for every chain store location in the city.

The remainder of this report details a comprehensive ranking of national chains in New York city by their number of store locations, the number of store locations in each zip code, zip codes with the most and least number of chains and zip codes with the most and least number of chains by borough.

Click here to download the full report.

---

<sup>1</sup>Our tally of chain stores in New York City was conducted between July and August of 2015, and is based on each retailers' store locator data taken at that time.

<sup>2</sup> Duane Reade was purchased by Walgreens. Although there are still Duane Reade and Walgreens stores throughout the city, we counted all of these stores together.

<sup>3</sup> Last year, there were also 300 retailers on our list. Five retailers from last year's list were removed this year because they closed all of their stores. But five new retailers were added.

This report was written by Christian González-Rivera and edited by Jonathan Bowles. Research support from Martin Yimand Jonah Bleckner.

General operating support for Center for an Urban Future has been provided by the Bernard F. and Alva B. Gimbel Foundation, Fund for the City of New York, the Lucius N. Littauer Foundation and the M&T Charitable Foundation.

RELATED PRESS

10 Must Reads for the CRE Industry Today

National Real Estate Investor, by Elaine Misonzhnik, December 22, 2015

Sheepshead Bay Among Top 10 Brooklyn Neighborhoods With The Most National Franchises

Sheepshead Bites, by Alex Ellefson, December 23, 2015

Starbucks nears deal for new roastery in Meatpacking District

The Real Deal, by Mark Maurer, January 11, 2016

How can cities save their small businesses?

Curbed, by Patrick Sisson, October 17, 2016

30 chain store locations closed on Staten Island in 2015

Staten Island Advance, by Tracey Porpora, December 22, 2015

The Rent Is Still Too Damn High: Zaro's Shuttering Bronx Outpost After 56 Years

Commercial Observer, by Terence Cullen, December 24, 2015

Chains Grow in Bronx; Dunkin Takes the Lead

Bronx Times, by Madeline Anthony, January 26, 2016

Retail Chains See Slow Growth in NYC

New York Observer, by Liam La Guerre, December 22, 2015

Surprises From 2015, and Reasons for Hope

The New York Times, by Ginia Bellafonte, December 25, 2015

Where Dunkin' Donuts and Starbucks Go Head-to-Head, Side-by-Side

Wall Street Journal, by Charles Passy, March 25, 2016

Coffee giants continue to dominate the city's retail market

Crain's New York Business, by Daniel Geiger, December 22, 2015

2015 means closing time for these iconic restaurants

New York Post, by Jennifer Gould Keil, December 27, 2015

Retail Chains See Slow Growth in NYC

Commercial Observer, by Liam La Guerre, December 22, 2015

Our Take: The State of the Chains

Straus Media, December 29, 2015

KFC going back to the Colonel's fried chicken ways, reoutfitting stores and kitchens

New York Business Journal, by Teresa Novellino, April 04, 2016

30 chain store locations closed on Staten Island in 2015

Staten Island Advance, by Tracey Porpora, December 23, 2015

E.V. still among tops for chain stores

The Villager, by Yannick Rack, December 31, 2015

Starbucks super-cafe, clash are both brewing

The Villager, by Yannic Rack, April 14, 2016

10 Must Reads for the CRE Industry Today (December 22, 2015)

National Real Estate Investor, by Elaine Misonzhnik, December 22, 2015

Bronx braced for a retail boom as prices draw developers to an untapped market

Real Estate Weekly, by Dan Orlando, December 30, 2015

A New Kind of Grindhouse for the Meatpacking District

Chelsea Now, by Scott Stiffler, April 13, 2016

NYC's Most Ubiquitous Chain Is...

Gothamist, by Nell Casey, December 23, 2015

Don't believe what they say, believe what they do

Crain's New York, by Greg David, January 11, 2016

Chew on This: Fast Food Can Lead to Health Risks

Norwood News, by Javier Acosta, May 12, 2016

Big retail chains are rapidly closing in New York City

Fox Business, by Jade Scipioni, January 28, 2019

The exodus of New York City's endangered middle class

New York Post, by John Aidan Byrne, December 22, 2018

Big Retail, Food Chains Closing Shop In New York City In Record Numbers

Yonkers Daily Voice, by Zak Failla, January 10, 2019

Shake Shack shares fall as restaurants cannibalize one another

Crain's New York Business, by Aaron Elstein, February 25, 2020

CENTER FOR AN URBAN FUTURE
120 Wall Street, 20th Floor, New York, NY 10005

cuf@nycfuture.org © All Rights Reserved.