To make progress toward a more equitable city, NYC has an incomparable asset in nearly every neighborhood: its 217 public branch libraries. Check out CUF’s new report video that explains why.

Center for an Urban Future

Libraries are already among the city’s largest and most trusted providers of programs and services aligned with New Yorkers’ greatest needs. With a clear citywide strategy and a new level of investment, their impact could be even greater.

For alt-text, watch this video on CUF’s YouTube channel.

This study was made possible by the Charles H. Revson Foundation.

Video Credits
Production: CRFT Video

RELATED PRESS

Mayor Adams To Provide Nearly $20 Million In Funding To Support Teens And Young Adults

Office of NYC Mayor Eric Adams, October 12, 2022